

RE: FAA-2004-17005: I am opposed to making the Washington class B security airspace permanent. I am a pilot with an Airline Transport Pilot certificate. The Washington ADIZ is unworkable and imposes major burdens on pilots and ATC alike. Further, it provides minimal security benefits. No general aviation aircraft has ever been involved in a terrorist attack and not a single ADIZ violation has been terrorist related. The proposed rule is flawed because the evaluation of the economic and operational impacts and analysis of alternatives are insufficient.
